

MASOK

are a four-piece future soul band based in Tel Aviv, comprising of Jenny Penkin, Nomok, Tal Kohavi and Omri Shani. The four started working on their debut album in the past year, titled "The Bigger The Risk", soon to be released digitally and on vinyl on Raw Tapes Records.

Taking the front, Jenny Penkin is a singer/songwriter/waitress whose range goes between R&B, Soul and Hip Hop and her warm voice and smooth phrases bring a fresh colour to the table.

Accompanying her is Nomok, who's in charge of production and keys, influenced by jazz harmonies, synthesised sounds and Stevie Wonder.

Tal Kohavi's slick grooves, tight drums and crispy percussion contribute to the rawness of Masok's music.

Completing the puzzle, Omri Shani, who's more influenced by the indie rock scene, brings unique aesthetics and laid back mentality to his bass lines.
